

Right to Work in the UK

All employers have a legal obligation to ensure that their employees have the right to work in the United Kingdom. This is controlled by the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 (“the Act”) and subsequent secondary legislation. It is an offence to employ a person who is not entitled to work in the UK and Silver Blaze Ltd has a duty to check that all new employees are entitled to work here. This check gives Silver Blaze an excuse against payment of a civil penalty or a defence against conviction if it is later found to have employed an illegal migrant worker.

Under the Act, employers are liable to payment of a civil financial penalty if they employ a person aged 16 or over who is subject to immigration control and who has no permission to work in the United Kingdom, or who is in breach of their conditions of stay in the United Kingdom. If it is proved that an employer has knowingly employed an illegal migrant worker there is the possibility of prosecution, an unlimited fine and a maximum two-year prison sentence.

All external job applicants will be required to produce the necessary original documents (photocopies are not acceptable) which employers must check in accordance with the Act. The onus remains on the potential employee to demonstrate that they are permitted to do the job into is offering and are eligible to work in the UK.

To ensure we do not breach immigration legislation, Silver Blaze will check and record certain specified documents belonging to potential and existing employees. The required documents are set out in List A and List B of the UK Border Agency’s guidance notes; these lists will be provided to all potential employees and are available for inspection by all employees through the HR department. These checks must be made before a person starts working for intu and once every twelve months during employment thereafter for those who have only provided List B documents.

In complying with our obligations under immigration rules, special care must be taken to ensure Silver Blaze Ltd does not unlawfully discriminate against individuals on racial or ethnic grounds or in respect of any other protected characteristic under equality legislation. This policy should be read in conjunction with our policy on diversity in the workplace and Silver Blaze Ltd recruitment procedures.

Any Silver Blaze employee who fails to comply with the correct procedures as set out by each operating company may be subject to disciplinary charges. Any employee who is subsequently found not to have the right to work in the UK is liable for summary dismissal.
